JAMES MADISON HIGH SCHOOL
VIENNA, VIRGINIA

A silhouette is the projected outline of a figure, revealing only the surface design and no inner detail or color. The mere silhouette of any famous art masterpiece will disclose nothing of its interior splendor. Likewise, a single glance at the exterior of Madison reveals very little about the inner vitality of our school. Yet, what vantage point can we use to observe its real essence and spirit?

The solution is simple and appropriate — our Alma Mater. Like a piece of colored glass in a kaleidoscope, which is magnified and mirrored into a brilliant image, each line of our Alma Mater illustrates one facet of school life. Just as the combination of many such colored pieces produces an intricate and beautiful pattern, so does the Alma Mater reflect an accurate and pleasing image of Madison.

Thus, using the Alma Mater as our silhouette, the 1964 Montpelier staff has attempted to color in the detail of life at Madison.

ADMINISTRATION

Elton A. Bonner, James Madison Principal

Be Courageous, Says Principal

Be strong and be sincere,
Have courage, never fear. . . .

This admonition from our Alma Mater reminds me vividly of the late President of the United States, John F. Kennedy. Being young and vigorous and steeped in a burning love of country, he exemplified the strength and courage which we associate with the great early statesmen of our infant nation.

In his book, Profiles in Courage, Mr. Kennedy wrote, " . . .the . . . basic choice of courage or compliance continually faces us all . . . whenever we stand against the flow of opinion on strongly contested issues."

He continued, "The courage of life is often a less dramatic spectacle than the courage of a final moment; but is is no less a magnificent mixture of triumph and tragedy. A man does what he must—in spite of obstacles and dangers and pressures—and that is the basis of all human morality.

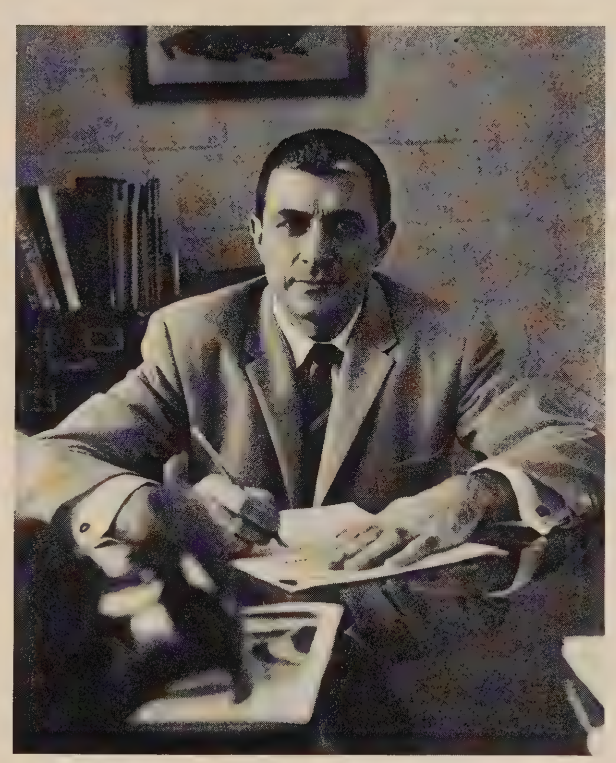
"To be courageous . . . requires no exceptional qualifications, no magic formula, no special combination of time, place and circumstance. It is an opportunity that sooner or later is presented to us all."

The crisp and truthful ring of these words should launch the kinetic moral strength to be found in every American who reads them.

My sincere desire for each of you is that you shall strengthen yourselves with the finest academic training which your Alma Mater is able to offer—and add to it the moral fiber to courageously turn this training into a dynamic, positive service to your country and to the world.

Bonner Heads J.M. Administration

Mr. Dozier, Asst. Principal of Instruction



Mr. Valotto, Asst. Principal of Administration

The administrators of any large school system have the difficult task of providing a challenging educational environment, a faculty of high caliber, excellent facilities, and superior equipment.

However, even with excellent facilities and an outstanding faculty, a school cannot operate successfully without a principal to coordinate the program. For the past five years, as principal of James Madison, Mr. Elton Bonner has achieved these aims. Through his efforts many new courses have been added to the curriculum. Mr. Bonner's chief responsibility is to keep Madison operating efficiently and smoothly.

Assisting him in these duties are Assistant Principal for Instruction, Mr. George Dozier, and Mr. Arthur Valotto, who is Assistant Principal for Administration.

To Successful Office Employment

The major objective of the Business Department is to develop the attitude and skills which lead to successful office employment. The program provides the opportunity for students to develop an understanding of the business and economic system as related to the community.

Vocational Office Training, a part-time work-experience program for senior students, combines classroom instruction with on-the-job training to prepare a student for full-time employment in office occupations. The student earns two credits toward graduation—one for the classroom instruction and one for satisfactory work on the job.

Distributive Education prepares juniors and seniors for full-time employment in the retail, wholesale, and service fields by combining classroom instruction with work experience for which the student receives two school credits plus pay.

"Mrs. Bowman, is this an adverbial or an adjective?" This is just one part of the familiar guessing game that the Freshman and Sophomore English classes at JMHS attempt to solve.

By the time the JMHS student is a Junior he might be involved in the American Civilization program, a new course opened this year which combines American History and Literature.

Fine Arts, Art And Music, Offer

Forming an important aspect of cultural life at Madison, the Art Department strives to enrich both knowledge and appreciation of the arts. The first-year course is an introduction to basic art techniques, including painting, drawing, design, ceramics, enameling, lettering, commercial art.

The following year students concentrate on specific areas and advance techniques. After this they specialize and choose between drawing and painting or ceramics and sculpture.

Throughout the year Art students have produced many displays for the walls and for Madison's showcases.

General And Specialized Courses

The music program at Madison has many varied and myriad aspects. Mr. Kenneth Yohe, as instrumental director, offers three separate classes: creative listening, which attempts to give students appreciation of music of all periods and styles; the concert band, a marching organization which participates in football shows and parades; and the symphonic wind ensemble, a newly-formed group, which exists for the more advanced students in the department.

The choral department, under the direction of Mr. Guidotti, also offers three courses. The freshman chorus serves as a training chorus where students are taught to sing and to understand the basic terms necessary for full musical expression. After a year in freshman chorus, students are ready to move up to the concert choir. The Madrigals group is a select chorus of sixteen students who perform leading Renaissance and 20th century selections. They gave several concerts during the past, but their climatic performance was at the World's Fair in May.

Mr. Yohe talks with band majorette, Jeannie Grieve.

Foreign Languages Make Us

Now in its fifth year, Madison's language department, headed by Miss Owen, is modern and well-equipped. For the past two years Madison has employed the audio-lingual method of instruction which stresses conversation and accent. Through this method, students make wide use of the language lab which was installed three years ago. The new experience offered by the audio-lingual instruction gives the student a better opportunity to understand the language of his "friends across the sea."

Madison students have a choice of French, Latin, Spanish, or German. French is offered for five years, Latin for four, and Spanish and German for three.

For half a decade now, Madison has enjoyed the support and aid of a friendly and efficient Guidance Department. Students find their counselor's office a welcome refuge where, in a relaxed atmosphere, they can plan an active school life.

These counselors have a key role in the educational program at Madison. With their help each student chooses one of several basic programs and arranges a suitable schedule for the coming year.

However, the work of the Guidance Department does not end every day with the last bell. Members devote many after-school hours changing schedules, making college recommendations, and filling out numerous forms. Occasionally, they must spend a complete Saturday supervising CEEB, NEDT, and other competitive tests.

Four consecutive years of training are provided for those who are interested in specializing in this field. Senior home economics gives one compact year of training before going on to home, job, or college. The concepts designed for preparing a girl for a future on her own. Industrial Arts Adds Electronics

Tim Gerrity looks curiously at a complicated machine.

Amid the whir of drills and saws, industrial arts students perfect their skills in the manual arts. Using their own imagination and a variety of equipment, these students complete a number of interesting projects and turn out many useful articles.

In addition to the usual offering of metal and wood shop and mechanical drawing, this year the department added another course, Electronics, to the curriculum. Students taking this course learn the theory and Basic fundamentals of electricity and electronics. At the end of the year they should be able to explain the operation of a "Superhet" or interpret the meaning of an obscure phrase like "an excessive signal voltage placed on the control grid drives the triode into cut-off".

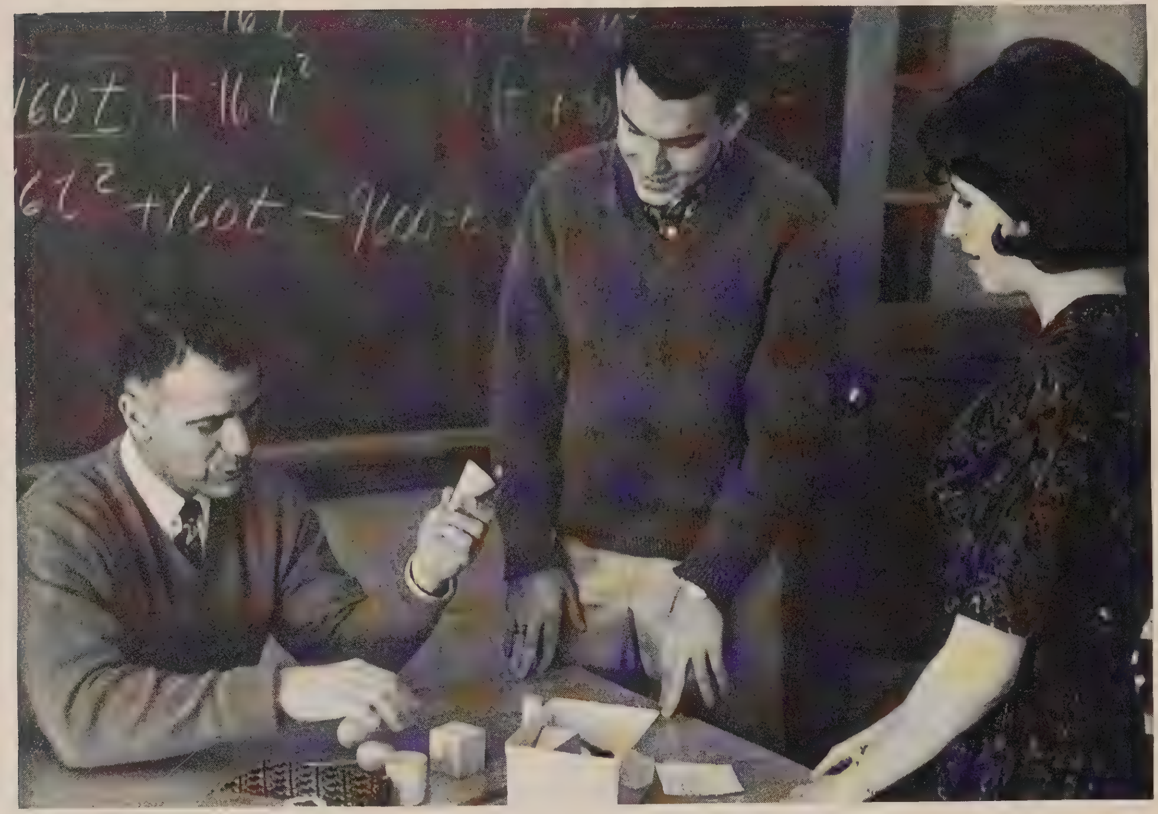
New, Traditional Teaching Methods



Mike Sconyers and Francine Gonnell discuss geometrical figures with Mr. Church.

The curriculum of the Mathematics Department has encountered sweeping changes in the last two years. The old algebra and geometry texts have been replaced with a new teaching method, SMSG, which emphasises relationships between the various branches of mathematics.

Even though the Department has introduced this new series, it continues to offer the traditional courses of trigonometry and solid geometry. The material covered by both the old and new programs is essentially the same, and consequently the student has a wide choice of courses.

Elementary Functions, a new SMSG subject last year, includes the study of various equations and their graphs. The second part of the course, Matrix Algebra, bridges the gap from instrumental high school mathematics to the abstract viewpoint of college math.

Sports Program Aims To Develop

The various sports offered in Physical Education classes usually come as a refreshing change from strenuous mental studies. Through competitive and individual sports, students learn various skills, sportsmanship, and spirit.

Girls sports include hockey, volleyball, tumbling, and softball while boys partake in football, volleyball, basketball, wrestling, and baseball.

Another aspect of our Physical Education Department is the health instruction. In this classroom unit, students study such things as first aid, narcotics and tobacco, and driver education.

The department is headed by Mr. Chaudet and Mrs. Milbourn.

Star Gazing Or Dissecting A Frog—

Star gazing, dissecting frogs, mixing chemicals, making a balance with a straw—these are just a few examples of what is in store for the student taking earth science, biology, chemistry, or physics.

Beginning last year, Madison incorporated into the Science Department two new courses. They are B.S.C.S. (Biological Sciences Curriculum Study) Biology, which stresses the ecological approach of learning by doing, and CHEM-Study (Chemical Educational Materials Study) Chemistry, which presents chemistry as it is today with emphasis on the most enjoyable part of this science—experimentation.

This year Madison's Science Department initiated P.S.S.C. (Physical Science Study Committee) Physics, which stresses critical thought and also places an emphasis on experimentation. Students with interest and ability are given the opportunity to work as laboratory assistants in biology, chemistry, or physics.

American Civilization, the big news in social studies this year, is an experimental course designed to bridge the gap between the separate subjects of American Literature and U. S. History. In this course four instructors lecture on a rotating basis to a class of approximately 130 students, linking together literature and history into one complete study of our country's culture. The instructors present a panoramic view of America's growth and show how both history and literature have exerted influence on each other during this expansion.

Miss Cleveland and Mr. Inglis are team teachers in traditional history, while Mr. Fitch and Mr. Davis team teach in government. Emphasis is being put on understanding causes and underlying factors, rather than simply memorizing facts and dates.

World History, offered to seniors and sophomores, begins with the story of earliest man and continues to our modern era. Freshmen are introduced to Social Studies in World Geography.

FRESHMEN

Looking back, we will never forget the first day at Madison—creeping through the corridors, extremely conscious of the sneers of the upper classmen, and trying to look as though we belonged. And yet, soon we did belong, and freshmen were participating in all school activities.

Our football and basketball teams scored impressive victories, promising great things in future years. Although dances sponsored by freshmen were called off, we managed to sell class cards for our treasury.

Freshmen proved themselves a generous and industrious class, by winning the lights and magazine drives. Now we join the higher ranks of Madison, and can say with righteous disdain, "Oh, Freshmen."

SOPHOMORES

Older and more experienced, we returned to school with confidence and responsibility. No longer bothered with the fears and doubts of orientation, sophomores plunged into school activities with fresh vitality.

We sponsored a sock-hop early in the Fall, but our biggest project was the Christmas Dance. Looking ahead to next year's Prom we re-established the life-saver project and held the traditional "pizza panic".

As young adults, we are learning to adjust to the academic and social pressures of high school life, and we look forward to the coming year with purpose and determination.

JUNIORS

We began our junior year with great expectations. Exams and college worries soon became an integral part of our lives. Looking for solutions to various problems, we kept the guidance department constantly busy.

However, the most immediate problem was the Prom. We finally won the administrative and parental approval needed to hold it at Indian Spring Country Club in Maryland. To raise money we engaged in activities such as the Breakfast Club, Junior Class Play, sock-hops, bake sales and the notorious junior-senior basketball game. Who can ever forget the thrill of getting our class rings and realizing we would soon be seniors!

An exciting year culminated with the Prom, proving by its smooth success the unity and maturity we have achieved as a class.

SENIORS

We began the year anticipating the prestige of being Seniors, but soon learned that being a senior was also a responsibility. We were responsible for school leadership as well as class affairs.

The senior year also meant serious college and vocational decisions. Nevertheless, the year brought memorable occasions. Highlights were the prom and the senior class play, "The Spider." There were interclass sports competitions, and we played a major part in varsity sports.

Graduation time seemed to unite us. And we each walked with pride to receive that "hard-earned" diploma.

ORGANIZATIONS

SCA Leads

Madison's Student Council took the lead in many school activities this year. The major project undertaken was that of lighting our athletic field. The drive, involving family pledges, student contributions through homeroom, and "pennies for lights" jars, was a tremendous success. The interest in the Magazine Drive, headed by the S.C.A. was much keener this year because of the spirited competition with Fairfax High. We beat Fairfax with $14,350.86 and received the Rebel flag as a symbol of our initiative.

International Week's program of informative and interesting lectures helped students get acquainted with their foreign neighbors.

The "Great Controversy" over the S.C.A.'s structure caused quite a stir throughout the school! As a result, constitutional changes are being considered.

Aid SCA Officers In Administration

The Student Government consists of a general council which includes a cabinet, student representatives, and officers.

The Student Council is composed of homeroom representatives, club presidents, and class presidents.

The officers of our student council are elected by the entire student body in annual spring elections. The treasurer is a member of the Sophomore class, the secretary a member of the Junior class, and the vice-president and president are members of the Senior class. This system makes it possible for every class, except the Freshmen, to be strongly represented by an outstanding leader. This year's officers were Don Lemons, Treasurer; Bev Hardy, Secretary; Craig Hayes, Vice-president; and Orren Beaty, President.

These students are elected by their classmates on the basis of ability, initiative, and leadership.

The S.C.A. Cabinet is composed of a group of students chosen by the president for the purpose of assisting him in school affairs. The cabinet coordinates the activities of the school and organizes benefit drives and dances.

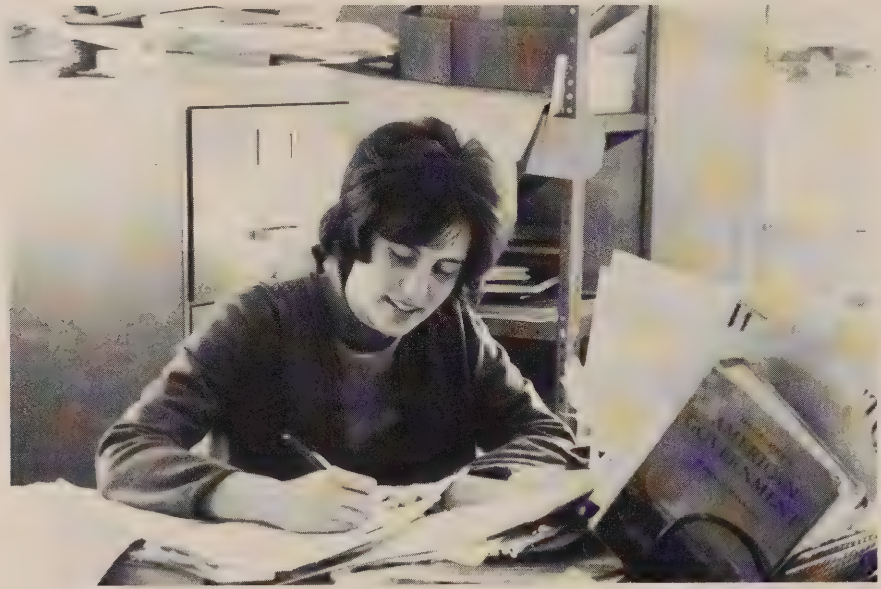
HAWK TALK

Terrie Hazard Heads Newspaper Staff



Terrie Hazard, busy editor, works to meet another deadline at her work-filled desk.

Terrie Hazard, a senior, has served as editor of Hawk Talk, James Madison's newspaper, this year. Terrie and her staff have devoted long hours to meet the deadlines for their editions.

"Hawk Talk has attempted," says Terrie, "to cover all aspects of school news, adding a hint of the editors' own imagination for flavor."

The J.M.H.S. newspaper has the distinction of being the only publication that has been in existence since the opening of Madison.

Donohoe Serves As Sponsor Of "Hawk Talk"

Mrs. Donohoe has been sponsor of the school newspaper, Hawk Talk, since Madison began.

She is also Head of the English department and senior class sponsor. However, she is not by any means limited to English. This year Mrs. Donohoe is teaching World Literature, Government, and Journalism.

Despite this busy schedule, she is an avid reader of varied subject matter.

Mrs. Donohoe continually works at understanding the actions of the newspaper staff.

Heritage Offers Students Opportunity

Gwen Blackwell works on an illustration for one of the stories.

Creative talent found expression in the winter and spring issues of "Heritage", the school's literary-art magazine.

With the guidance and assistance of Miss Morgan, the "Heritage" staff selected, edited, and prepared outstanding student contributions for publication.

To stimulate the interest and support of the student body, contests were conducted in the fields of art and literature and special recognition was given to all contributors at honorary teas held prior to the distribution of each issue.

Winners Of Winter Edition

The following are selections from the winning articles in the winter Heritage:

Paul Koehn—"Mask"

No one knows what is concealed beneath the Mask you present to them unless . . .
  it . . .
   cracks . . .

Paul Ingram—"RO (CK + 2L)"

"If the state of our civilization is judged by our popular music, the outlook of the world is gloomy indeed. The burden of responsibility for music's unhappy condition rests almost entirely on the shoulders of the immature and tasteless teenager . . .

. . ."When a teenager limits his cultural background to rock and roll music, he seriously limits his potential as an adult. The development of a generation with such arrested aesthetic tastes could truly prove detrimental to a nation such as the United States which holds the very destiny of the world in the palm of its hand."

Jeanne Gally—"Me and This Mountain"

"Down past the old sawmill and Jeff Woodson's store, there's a narrow dirt road that leads down by the mud creek and then winds almost straight up the rocky back of the mountain. If you follow it long enough, . . . you'll by and by come to my house . . .

"It does get mighty lonely up there with just Granna and me. Granna's getting on in years and her narrow, hard back isn't as strong as it used to be. Seems like her white hair's getting whiter and her eyes don't sparkle and see through you like they once did. I'm the only boy left since my brothers and little sister and my folks got killed . . . and there's too much mountain for one body to work and worry about."

To Demonstrate Own Creative Talents

Yearbook Switches To Full Coverage

Deadlines, deadlines, deadlines . . . were constant problems for the yearbook staff as they prepared the Montpelior section by section for an "on time delivery" into the hands of the publisher. Orderly confusion reigned as opinions and criticism freely flew among staff members.

This year the Montpelior staff incorporated a "late delivery-full coverage" system into their timetable. Although the books are distributed in late summer, they contain a more comprehensive review of school life plus color photographs and other special effects.

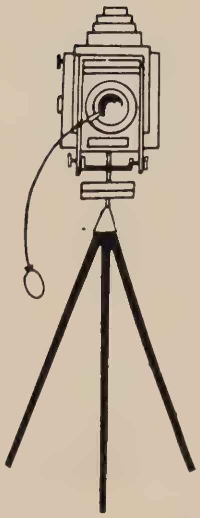
Business Staff Serves JM Publications

The business staff handles financial problems, advertisements, and circulation for Madison's three publications: the newspaper, yearbook, and magazine.

Mr. Anglin, a teacher in Madison's social science department, heads the business staff, and four students assist him. John Kruchko is circulation manager; Trudy Wagner is office manager; Ted Hazard is advertising manager; and Chuck Payne handles the exchange program.

Club Helps With Publication Pictures



The photography club, composed primarily of boys, turns out all pictures for the magazine, newspaper, and a few of the pictures for the yearbook.

The sponsor, Mr. Allen Clark has given lectures on portraits. Individual members have been instructed by Wolf Seeburg so that every member is able to perform the basic skills for developing and printing.

The club has entered various contests, some with national competition. Money is earned by taking and selling pictures at school dances, including the Prom.

The James Madison Chapter of the National Honor Society emphasized throughout the school year the traditional standards of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Maintaining and further developing its personality of dignity and integrity, it co-sponsored the school's annual honor awards banquet and initiated the tradition of an assembly inductions ceremony before the student body.

With the support of Mr. Davis and Mr. Fitch, the Honor Society investigated the school's point system and worked for scholarships and the establishment of a chapter of a Junior National Honor Society for James Madison High School.

Quill and Scroll was one of the first organizations established at Madison. The membership requirements for this honorary organization call for students who have displayed outstanding ability and have done hard work in the field of journalism. To become a member, a student must have acquired one-hundred points by working on one of the school's three publications and be in the upper one-third of his class. This year Quill and Scroll sponsored a banquet for all publication students and published the J. M. H. S. student directory.

Thespian Society Is Formed At JM

Formerly known at Madison as the Drama Club, this group organized itself under the National Thespian Society Charter in March of the school year. The group is composed of actors, business staff members, backstage hands, and technical production workers who have been associated with dramatic programs at Madison, previously attended schools, or community theater groups. The amount and type of their experience determined their acceptance for membership and position in the organization.

New Band, Symphonic Wind Ensemble

Majorettes Add Grace To Games, Parades

New at Madison this year, the symphonic wind ensemble is composed of those students who excel in the instruments and who are capable of maintaining their excellence against the stiff competition presented by the concert band members.

Mr. Yohe initiated the group as an opportunity for students to play the very best ensemble music and to advance and improve their playing technique in anticipation of college of a music career.

With precision and grace of style, the Majorettes have won high esteem in the school and area. They have won a total of six trophies in the last two years. Two of these were for the Halloween Parade and Safety Parade in Washington in the past year.

They also bought their new uniforms from holding bake sales and car washes.

The Majorettes play a big part in the football ceremonies. As a reward, they received flowers at all games. The year was climaxed with participation in the Apple Blossom Parade in Winchester.

In Northern Va. District Competition

The Madison Concert Choir is the larger of Madison's choral groups. This group gave two school concerts this year—the traditional Christmas and spring concerts. One of these was given in Vienna; the other in Washington.

The choir also competed in the Northern Virginia District Choir Competition. It was one of a very few schools to receive a superior rating.

This year's group is composed mainly of sophomores and juniors. Most of these will be returning to Madison next year.

The Madrigals are the most advanced group in the Choral department. It consists of juniors and seniors, advanced in musical knowledge and ability. The Madrigals were invited to give many concerts in and around the Washington area.

This group also performed at the Northern Virginia Choral Festival and received a unanimous superior rating.

The biggest honor was the trip to the World's Fair, Judson Hall. The Madrigals were invited to perform there and for various other concerts in New York. They received favorable reviews and were acclaimed to have achieved standards "rarely met by high school students."

AFS Promotes International Goodwill

The American Field Service is an international organization with the purpose of promoting international goodwill and friendship. The James Madison A. F. S. Chapter sponsors fund-raising activities and in other ways supports the exchange of students between the United States and foreign countries. This year we are fortunate to have attending our school Tom Glenndahl from Sweden.

The Distributive Education Club, is primarily a professional club rather than a social club. Regular instruction in the classroom is substituted by activities developing leadership. The various occupational techniques are practiced by these students who plan to enter the distributive field. The course may also aid the student who plans to be trained in business administration, consumer education marketing, advertising, and similiar fields on the college level.

This year the D. E. Club participated in many contests locally and statewide besides sponsoring an employer-employee banquet.

Varsity Chess Team Has 6-2 Record

As members of one of the most unusual organizations at Madison, the members of the Chess Club pursue their game avidly. In addition to weekly meetings, members participated in an area chess league. During this competition the "varsity" team racked up a 6-2 record, finishing fourth in Northern Virginia. At the end of the year, a school tournament was held with the winner receiving a cash prize.

The Future Business Leaders of America, a group of professional students, began their year by installing officers who programmed the season.

Meetings featured guest speakers—such as graduates Pat Redmond and Dee Ann Borland who are now attending the Washington School for Secretaries, a representative from Nancy Taylor's Charm School, and lecturers from a travel agency and the Civil Service Commission.

At Thanksgiving the members made Good Will Baskets for area families.

The club, sponsored by Mrs. O'Grady and Mrs. Hurley, also administers an annual spelling contest, won this year by Eursaline Dawson. They originate skills and aid students in finding jobs.

The Madison chapter of The Future Homemakers of America is a member of both the state and national F. H. A. organization. This year the club effort was focused on Family Friendships.

The Madison chapter, the Dolly Madison Chapter, with its twenty-five members, carried out its plans to make Christmas decorations, to view films and slides pertaining to different aspects of homemaking, and to hold a banquet in the spring. Members of the club also attended both the fall and spring federation meetings which proved to be very informative and beneficial.

Future Nurses Study Nursing Fields

This year the Future Nurses Club dealt mainly with the various fields of Nursing and the qualifications of each of these fields. To go along with this study, the club showed movies, had guest speakers, and took field trips to hospitals, museums, and nursing homes.

Throughout the year, the club sponsored various service projects such as collecting toys for a children's home.

At the present time the club has twenty-three members. The club is open to all people interested in the field of nursing.

Officers: Ruth Farrington, Treas.; Judy Moreland, Vice-Pres.; Susan Smith, Sec.; Sandy Nutter, Pres.

GAA Assists In Intramural Program

The purpose of the Girls' Athletic Association is to promote girls' sports. Through lettering in one girls' sport or cheerleading or acquiring intramural points, a girl may become a member.

The intramural program uses GAA members for chairmanship of each sport offered, as well as for the duties of officiating timing, scoring, and organization.

Among the Club's activities are giving an annual mother-daughter banquet and serving at the football games.

Each year the club selects a school project and finances it by sales.

German Club Enjoys Foreign Culture

The forty-member German Club began the year on Oct. 5 with a five-mile hike down the C. & O. canal towpath to Great Falls for a weenie roast picnic. Then on Nov. 14 they went to the Bavarian 823, a German restaurant in Washington. At the close of 1963 they celebrated Christmas with George Marshall High School's German Club.

When the Fasching season (a German holiday) rolled around the club held their third annual Fasching party with guests from the German clubs of Falls Church, George Marshall, and Jeb Stuart High Schools. As an outgrowth of the party, an Inter-Fairfax County German Club is being considered.

Club Hippique Attends, Sponsors Shows

The Club Hippique, Madison's riding club, was started four years ago. There are now about twenty members.

In the fall the club had a Gymkanha show. In the spring it had its own Annual Horse Show and saw the Lipizzaners in April.

The climax of the year was a field trip to the Potomac Horse Show.

Kallophile Is Service, Fun Organization

The art club is a semi-service and semi-fun organization. The members of Kallophile have gone on two sketching trips. On these the students tried to capture on paper the quaint feeling of Georgetown and the majesty of Great Falls.

As a service group the art club sponsors the annual art festival, to give recognition to artists of special talent. To raise money for expanding the selection of art books in the library, they have organized several bake sales. In the true school spirit the art club sponsored the Yorktown football game and contributed to Madison's light fund.

Veni! Vidi! Vici! The Latin Club which is composed of all students interested in Roman culture concentrated on one large project—the Roman banquet. All Latin students and their guests enjoyed an evening of feasting and merry-making.

Entertainment was provided by a star-packed show straight from the Gaiety House Carthage, and featuring Billy Bumkes Belly, the Belly Bumper, Dance of the Seven Veils. A "Roman" band, chariot races and slave auctions contributed to the fun. Cafeteria workers prepared a meal according to an authenic Latin menu.

Later in the year, the club published a satirical newspaper about events in ancient Rome.

Seated: Melinda Wilson, Vice-Pres.; Stefan Pruett; Barbara Vandervate, Sec-Treas.; Maureen O'Mara. Standing: Dave Roberts, Pres.; Paul Prose; Buddy Esper; Keith Robbins.

Literary enrichment is the key note for the Library Club. The group read and discussed this past year books including John Steinbeck's Travels With Charley, Barry Goldwater's Conscience of a Conservative, Franklin Russell's Watchers at the Pond, Bob Hope's I Owe Russia $1,200 and selections from The Story of Philosophy by Will Durant. The books which were purchased with bake sale funds have been donated to the library.

In tune with this program the club discussed several films, notably The Golden Fish and Lord of the Flies.

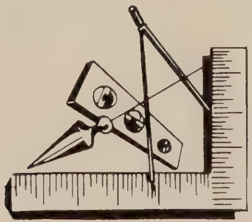
What is the Betti Number of a Klein Bottle? Prove Euler's theorem V-E + F = 2. Does a four dimensional cube exist? The answers to these and other interesting problems were discussed by the Math Club members during their weekly excursions into higher mathematics. These number wizards learned the fundamentals of topology, investigated the properties of truth tables, and also solved a number of intriguing puzzles.



President Lenny Schrank and secretary Ann Miller laugh at a math problem while Vice-president Steve Rose wonders what's so funny.

Madisonettes, Madison Club Serve

The Madisonette Club was formed four years ago to serve as a media through which the members might serve their school and community by helping to build up school spirit and furthering school prestige. Membership is open to all girls who have completed the first semester of their sophomore year and met all the entrance requirements.

Included in the club's activities is a teacher help program to promote a better relationship between the faculty and the student body. The club sponsored bake sales, a basketball game, and a hop. At Thanksgiving, fruit baskets were sent to nursing homes in the area and flowers were planted in the spring.

The Madison Club is James Madison's service club for boys. Membership is determined by a boy's academic and personal qualifications and his desire and willingness to help.

This year the club, composed of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, did many things to promote school spriit.

They were responsible for many school functions including serving at the academic awards dinner, directing traffic at all school activities and rendering their assistance at school functions.

Students Design, Construct Own Rockets

5-4-3-2-1 . . . woosh! This firing sequence could have been heard several times this year while the Rocket Club launched one of its solid-fuel missiles. More than ten rockets rose from the pad at Cape Madison during the current testing program. Each member designed and constructed his own rocket taking into account factors like center of gravity, center of pressure, stability, thrust, and materials strength. In order to obtain useful data on the rocket's performance, a tracking crew used two transits to follow its flight path.

In addition to the launching of these model rockets, club members viewed several films tracing the development of missile technology. Various experimental fuel mixtures to be used in larger rockets were carefully ignited. Preliminary plans have been drawn up for a five-foot vehicle.

The areas of discussion, research, observation, and experimentation consist of all phases of science. The program included a series of films on nuclear tests, aerial firepower, and ballistic missile programs. Several science teachers presented lecture-demonstrations on pertinent topics.

Primary emphasis is placed on the Science Fair, for which the club has a major role in organization and administration. Members attended the National Science Fair held at Baltimore in the latter part of April.

J.V. Football Team Ends With 3-5 Season

This year's J. V. football team did not live up to its potential or the expectations of its coach, Mr. Smith.

In the first six games they fell to five local teams. However as the season ended, the team began to develop "the will to win" attitude, beating Falls Church and Annandale.

Coached by Dick Graves and Norman Chaudet, the Freshman football team had a very impressive year and showed promise of better things for the J. V. and Varsity teams of the future. The Baby Warhawks began their season rather slowly, dropping their first first two games to Fairfax and Annandale. However, things began to look up in their third game against Woodson. Although the score remained 0 to 0 throughout the game, the Baby Warhawks out-played the Woodson Yearlings in every respect.

In the last three games the superb Warhawk defense tells the story. The defense blocked every extra point throughout the season and allowed only one first down in their last game against McLean.

Young Cross-Country Team Promising

Cross-Country this year was the only major sport at Madison that was mainly composed of freshmen. The team, under the leadership of Coach Nicholas Bielich, worked hard and did well at all the major meets of the year. In the Northern Virginia meet the "A" team placed eighth and the "B" team placed fourth.

Varsity runners Mike Scurto, captain Dick King, Lark Lambert, and Kelvin Hazard spirited their team and put out the extra effort that Cross-Country demands.

Cross-Country, as the name implies, is run over hills, along roads, over creeks, and along paths. The average distance varies, but it is usually slightly longer than two miles. The race demands tremendous strength and endurance, and, each course being different, poses a real challenge to the high school runner.

Cagers End Season With 7-11 Record

The varsity Warhawk basketball team started their season with a bang! They easily won their first three games and were ranked tenth in the metropolitan area! Then, without any advanced warning hopes seemed to be shattered by the G. W. Presidents.

The Warhawk Cagers lost some of their spirit at this game, and it showed in their next eight games. However towards the end of the 63-64 basketball season the team's spirit picked-up again and the Cagers went on to play much better basketball.

Grapplers Have Poor Team Record,

Wrestling is a fast moving competitive sport which demands a great amount of skill and endurance on the part of the high school wrestler. Unlike other athletic events, each individual wrestling match lasts for six long, trying minutes. Therefore, all twelve wrestlers must be in excellent physical condition to either pin their opponent within the alloted time or to win their match by points.

Although Madison's wrestling team did not have an impressive team record, it did have some outstanding individuals who placed in the Northern Virginia meet. With a good many wrestlers returning, Madison will have plenty of depth and experience for next year's team.

Hockey Teams Mix Fun And Work

Tweet!!! Bully! And so began another season of hockey for Madison's enthusiasts. The Varsity team had a good season with three wins, three ties, and only two losses. Coach Milbourn stressed the importance of team spirit and sportsmanship as well as athletic prowess. The result was a close-knit team which scored as many friendships as goals. Full of warmth and zeal, they finished the season at Gifford's ice cream parlor where goalie Ellen Mott was named most valuable player.

Varsity Hawkettes End With 8-4 Record

The Varsity Hawkettes played a good season with an 8-4 showing. There were many tense moments when scores remained close throughout the last quarter. Yet these Madisonites managed to keep their lead and win. The girls accepted defeats as well as victories and perhaps learned a greater lesson in sportsmanship than any other team.

It was a discouraging season for the J. V. basketball girls who won only four of their twelve games. Yet what they lacked in skill they replenished with enthusiasm. They played several heart breaking games, notably that with Groveton which they lost by two points in a sudden death during the third overtime. Outstanding players were Cindy Hicks and Suzanne Amsbaugh. Sue Goedtl was most improved.

Ricky Bass (as Mr. Hastings) gives Budd Moyer (as young Marlowe) advice.

The Junior Class Play, "She Stoops to Conquer", by Oliver Goldsmith, was presented on December 6 and 7. The play concerned the tactics of "catching a man" in eighteenth century England.

Miss Hardcastle's technique was to stoop from the position of a fine young woman to that of a lowly barmaid. Surprisingly, it was successful!

The subtle, old-fashioned humor was unique as well as entertaining. The play added a different touch to Madison's drama department.

"She Stoops to Conquer" was directed by Mrs. P. Jones.

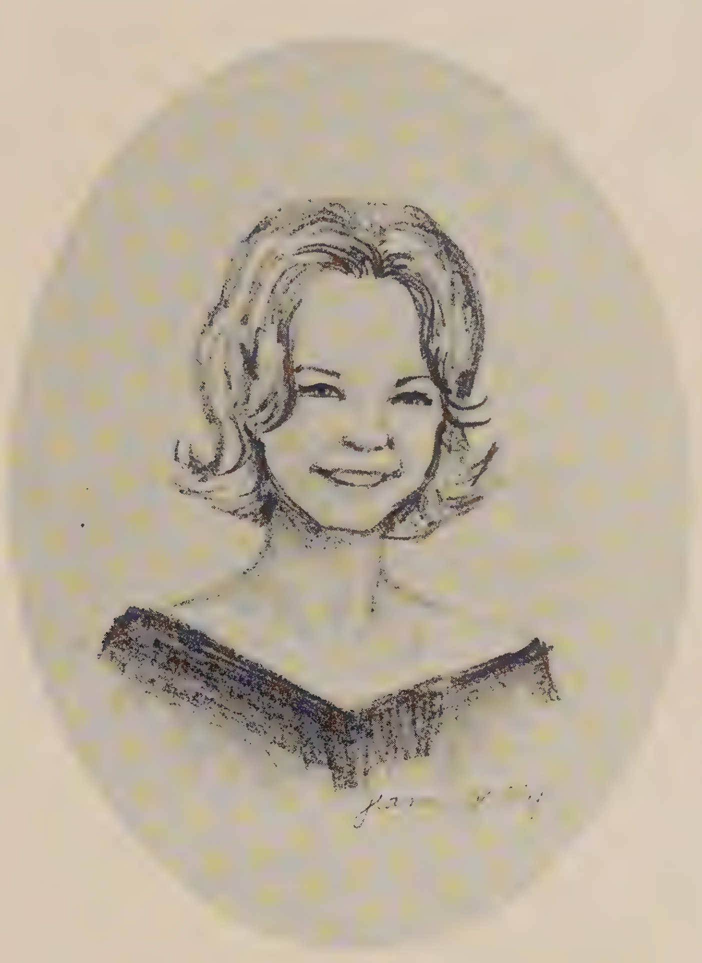
Hootenanny Craze Comes To Madison

Among Madison talent was the McKinley Brothers.

The James Madison S.C.A. enlightened our social calendar this year by sponsoring two Hootenannies. Don Lease, one of Washington's favorite folk entertainers, headed the program for both Hootenannies. Every arrangement in Lease's wide variety of folk music was his own original, and he showed a great ability in captivating an audience as well as in drawing them into the performance.

Appearing with Lease were "The Blue Rain Singers", "The Lonesome River Boys", Carol Trimini, and numerous others. The McKinley Brothers, Madison students, were also among the talent in the show. These singers did such a fine job in delighting their audience on November 9th, that the S.C.A. scheduled another Hootenanny for later in the year. This Hootenanny was an overwhelming success also.

Nancy Frizzell Is Christmas Queen



Nancy Frizzell

There always seems to be a special atmosphere at a Christmas dance, and this year's dance was no exception. High spirits and beautiful decorations created a memorable dance.

The student body owes a special and sincere thanks to the sophomore class for sponsoring this dance.

Nancy Frizzell was voted Queen of this holiday dance and added a touch of beauty and grace to the holiday mood.

Madison Follies Under Direction

Seen here are Pete Jamerson and the other members of a very elegant dance routine.

The high point in stage production at Madison comes with the Follies. Under the direction of Pete Jamerson the show never fails to fulfill the expectations of its audience.

The plot had a romantic touch as boy meets girl at Hardway College. Aside from this romantic angle there were numerous variations of talent.

One of the highlights in the performance came with what was meant to be a very dramatic presentation of Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra". The humor of this scene engulfed the complete audience.

The lead parts were played by Sue Hazard and Vince Zupan.

Ruth Dominy pantomimes a tear jerking song.

Of Jamerson Go To Hardway College

And, of course, there can't be singing without the McKinley brothers.

The funniest scene was the Cleopatra one.

Jolly Santas! and there was a whole line of them.

Skip Donaldson and John Romberg were members of the singing company.

Could a spirit explain what had happened?

A blackout during the vaudeville show and a blast from a gun started the action in the Sr. Class Play, The Spider. The murder committed in the middle of "The Great Chartrand's magic" is the source of suspicion and tension throughout the play. Because there was a lot of audience participation, the interest was paramount. The acting was superior and the lighting was amazing.

One could rest assured the police had everything under control.

March Is The Month

Gay colors and balloons added sparkle and gaiety to this year's Mardi Gras. Held on March 7 the Mardi Gras was a break in the second semester routine.

The Mardi Gras was sponsored by the S.C.A. and is the only dance during the year for which there was elected a king. Myles Hunnicutt was crowned king, and Charlotte Reid was made his queen.

The atmosphere was perfect for gay festivities and fast dancing.

One-Act Play Wins Superior Rating

"The Tiny Closet"
by William Inge

Mr. Newbold, portrayed by Paul Ingram, was the owner of a tiny and very mysterious closet. The mystery which surrounds this tiny closet drives his landlady, portrayed by Joan Thomas, and a friend, played by Linda Reis, to the point of breaking into the closet and discovering that Mr. Newbold makes lady's hats.

The superb character development by Paul Ingram and fine acting jobs by Joan Thomas and Linda Reis, brought the play a superior rating in the N. Va. One-Act Play competition.

Umm, boy, give me some more pizza.

Everyone dances at the Pizza Panic, with or without a partner.

Spring Brings Sophomore Pizza Panic

Several sophomores spend their evening selling pizza to make money for their class.

Each year the Pizza Panic seems to have a special quality all its own, for there is more dancing done at the Pizza Panic than at any other dance during the year.

Delicious pizza and dancing give each person who attends a lasting memory.

The Pizza Panic, traditionally sponsored by the sophomore class, is the last big dance of the year which is open to all students.

Junior Class Creates Seashore Scene

Sea shells, gold fish and driftwood brought Ebb Tide to every table.

Tradition is upheld even at Indian Springs, as sophomores appear in costume.

This year's prom broke with Madison tradition and was held outside the school at Indian Springs Country Club in Maryland. Though the Junior Class did not go through the usual ordeal of transforming the gym into an enchanting ball room, they did create a delightful seashore scene at the country club.

The theme, "Ebb Tide" was enhanced by sea shells, fish, and driftwood and created a most memorable evening for the Senior class.

At Prom In Honor Of '64 Graduates

There was a "magic" at the Prom that kept everyone starry eyed.

For the first time at Madison the doors to the Prom were opened at a country club.

A most memorable Prom ended with a waltz.

And Finally The Big Day Arrives—

Commencement Address

Awards Assembly

Monday night, June 8, Madison's only five-year class graduated in Constitution Hall with traditional pomp and formality. Graduation itself brought mixed feelings to the Class of 1964. Some graduates were happy that school was finally over, some were nostalgic about those five wonderful years, and others were too stunned to have a single emotion. The whole class shared one thing, however. Each student realized that the events of that hectic, marvelous weekend had slipped by too quickly. Graduation, supposedly a capstone to each student's career, also reminded him that high school was forever completed.

This year 298 students participated in the ceremonies. After all students had received diplomas from Mr. Bonner, the class switched their tassels to the left in unison.

STAFF THANK-YOU

The 1964 Montpelier Staff has enjoyed compiling this record of another year at Madison. We have many pleasant and nostalgic memories of our activities in the Publications Hut. We hope that this edition of the Montpelier will always recall these memories and link the future with past experiences.

In addition to the staff members, several people have contributed much time and talent to the 1964 yearbook. Mr. Richard Vestal coordinated our efforts with Delmar Publishing Company and worked diligently with us. Mr. Deal of La Mont Studios, Mr. Clark and Wolf Seeberg lent their photographic talents. Our sincere thanks go to each of these and the others who have helped to make this book.
